

GIRL WEDDED AT POINT OF DEATH WILL RECOVER

A chance for the better has been noted in the condition of Mrs. Frank A. Chase, the wife of a man who was married with ceremony in 1908, an attack of typhoid fever, the physician gave every hope that the life of the young woman would be saved. He announced her wedding as the last chance of saving his patient's life. The bride was Miss Alvina H. Haines, and the marriage at her home, No. 672 Somerville avenue, Somerville, was the culmination of an engagement which had lasted for fifteen years. Following a natural period which gave her the time to live, in July, for three weeks, Mrs. Chase was taken in a week after she had recovered from typhoid fever, and it was discovered that she was ill with typhoid fever.

She had continued to live for three weeks and when she began to recover, the physician gave every hope that the life of the young woman would be saved. He announced her wedding as the last chance of saving his patient's life.

Dr. Chase, a native of Somerville, was a well-known physician, and his wife, Mrs. Chase, was a native of Somerville. The marriage was celebrated at her home, No. 672 Somerville avenue, Somerville, on Sunday, October 23, 1910.

The wedding was a simple affair, and the bride was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Haines. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Haines, the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Somerville.

NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES

"For the Public Service"

Q. What built the New York Central Lines?
A. Money derived from the sale of its Bonds and Shares.

Q. Who buys the Bonds?
A. Savings Banks principally, then Trustees, Executors, Administrators, Guardians, Trust Companies, Life and Fire Insurance Companies, and other similar institutions.

Q. Whose money is it?
A. The savings of millions of men and women depositors.

Q. Then, who owns the New York Central Lines?
A. The real owners of the New York Central Lines are the millions of small investors, scattered everywhere.

Q. Give a simple example.
A. The Savings Banks of six States—New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Maine—own almost $700,000,000 worth of railroad securities, which amount represents about one-fourth of their total deposits.

Q. How many people are interested?
A. These Savings Banks alone have over six million depositors. On an average, therefore, each one owns a little more than $100 worth of railroad property.

Q. Who would suffer most when harm came to the Railroads?
A. Its employees, the small merchant and business man, and the millions of men and women who have deposited their small surplus in the Savings Banks or have invested in Life Insurance policies.

Q. Is not the Railroad problem the people's problem?
A. The people are directly related to the Railroads through the holdings of the small investor, the merchant and business man in turn depends upon them and the great army of employees. Thus the prosperity of the Railroads directly affects all the people in every part of the country, and no community can hope to enjoy full prosperity unless the Railroads are prosperous.

PHILADELPHIA WILD WITH JOY OVER THE ATHLETICS VICTORY

MACKMEN WIN TITLE BATTLE

By GEORGE MULLIN,
Pittsburgh Courier Staff Writer
The Philadelphia Athletics have won the National League pennant for the first time in 15 years. The team, coached by Connie Mack, defeated the Cincinnati Reds in the decisive Game 7 of the National League Championship Series. The Athletics' victory was a triumph for the franchise, which had been in a rebuilding phase for several years. The team's success was built on the strength of its pitching staff, led by Cy Young, and its powerful lineup, which included stars like Jimmie Foxx and Lefty Grove. The Athletics' victory in the pennant battle was a testament to the team's resilience and the skill of its players.

WHAT THE WINNERS AND LOSERS THINK OF SERIES RESULT

CONNIE MACK, I was disappointed at the way the game turned out. I thought we had a better chance of winning. But I am proud of the way the team fought. I will not let the result affect my confidence in the team. I will continue to work hard to make them a better team. I will not let the result affect my confidence in the team. I will continue to work hard to make them a better team.

FRANK F. CHANEY, I am so glad that we won. I have been waiting for this day for so long. I am so proud of the team. I will not let the result affect my confidence in the team. I will continue to work hard to make them a better team.

CAMP SAYS WESTERN TEAMS NEED REFORMS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 24.—Football reform is needed in the West to compel the enforcement of the new rules, according to Walter Camp, who has just returned from a long trip to the Pacific slope. Mr. Camp today criticized sharply the practices indulged in by Western teams.

"The Westerners are indelicate about the new rules, and some of them are being grossly infringed," said the famous coach. "Illegal plays of all kinds are allowed by the officials. They have a great track before them to prevent this. There is some holding and the rule is being violated. The officials would be best through the new enforcement which change."

Mr. Camp picks Wisconsin as the strongest team in the middle West and declares it will take all the honors during the season. Something of this trip to the West, he was much interested in the fact that "It was also much interested in Wisconsin."

DERBY WINNER OUT OF DANGER WRESTLERS AT ARENA TIGHT

ALLEN WILSON, 202½, the winner of the prize division of the American League at Readville this year, the little back bent over by John W. Coulter of the Boston team, seems out of danger from the threat of pneumonia over at the Hills Grove track. Her temperature has risen to 100, but the progress of his sickness seems to be a good omen, which will be good news to the fans of the Boston team.

The great record of Mr. Coulter for his career, which was quite remarkable, was in the world's championship. He was defeated by John W. Coulter of the Boston team, who was defeated by John W. Coulter of the Boston team, who was defeated by John W. Coulter of the Boston team.

The first bout will start at 8:15, and there will be a continuous performance until the crowd is dispersed.

YOU HAVE THE SUIT— NOW ABOUT THAT NEW OVERCOAT—

MELVIN WILLIAMS

Now that you have bought your Gale & Kent suit, you don't decide on your overcoat. Surely the weather is cool enough to warrant a flash at the top coat, right away.

They do things just about right at 96 Court Street. I have found Gale & Kent's copy for three years and have found it necessary to stick around the works a good deal. I have never heard a complaint that wasn't satisfied—right on the spot.

No arguments at Gale & Kent's—no kicks on the part of their patrons—nothing but absolute satisfaction all around. Every coat in every size and every overcoat is built on the famous Gale & Kent design. The front that won't break down."

This design has helped to make 96 Court Street a place to be remembered by well-dressed men everywhere. The same style that goes into a Gale & Kent suit can be put into a ready-made overcoat in all right.

Take my advice and get acquainted with the way to 96 Court Street. Get the Gale & Kent habit—order an overcoat or a suit there—to-day or this evening. The price will be $10 to $25—and you will be getting $30 to $40 worth of clothes.

SNAP YOUR GAMES AND WIN A PRIZE

THE BOSTON AMERICAN will give a high grade Winchester rifle or shotgun of the latest model, manufactured by the Winchester Arms Company, for the best photograph of two game birds or the game taken before December 15 next.

For the second best picture received a camera will be awarded.

The "careless" of the picture and the "action" shown will be largely in making the awards. The names of the judges will be decided the winners will be granted within a short time.

PREDICT RECORD WEEK FOR GAME

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 24.—The rain of the two days here, in a manner, made the week quiet, and this, coupled with the fact that this is what is known as the "falling season," should make the coming week one of the quietest in the big game of this year.

The complaint of the hunters since the season opened has been that the weather has been too warm for hunting, the birds have kept to heavy cover and the woods have been so dry that it has been very difficult to move through the woods without giving out the fact that in a very short time.

But the nights are beginning to be cooler, and this, coupled with the fact that the birds are beginning to come out of the woods, should make the coming week one of the best for hunting.

William E. of Philadelphia, a veteran hunter, came down last night from his home in Philadelphia to Bangor, Maine, to hunt. He was accompanied by a number of hunters and a dog named "Old Boy."

The first of the best game birds of the season was shot by William E. of Philadelphia. He was accompanied by a number of hunters and a dog named "Old Boy."

OLD-TIME BOWLERS HAVE GRAND REUNION

By ED COGSWELL

It is a treat to watch the grand old boys of the bowling alley, who have been together for many years, and who are now gathered together for a regular meeting. The last of the grand old boys of the bowling alley, who have been together for many years, and who are now gathered together for a regular meeting.

Among the old-timers present were "Pop" Barnes, Tom Miller, Sam Coleman, Ray McCalla, "Doc" Jones, Howard Prescott, Charles Johns, John Thompson, Bob Jay, Pierce, Prince and Talbot. The official referee was Mr. Barclay, brother of the late "Pop" Barnes.

It is said of "Pop" Barnes that he was the father of the present bowling alley. Back when the little hills were all the way "Pop" decided it might be a good plan to try the sand ball on the old way of the dice, and had a set of what he called "Pop" Barnes, which were used for many years.

The bowling alley was built on the site of the old bowling alley, which was built on the site of the old bowling alley, which was built on the site of the old bowling alley.

Extra! Special Extra!

By MABEL HERBERT UERNER

A L, the passengers in the rear had been killed, but as yet few names were given. A sound out of the shattered burning car, with "Horrible

Wreck" was heard from the hill below, taking up half the page.

She never forgot how that page looked at any time in her life after she could reproduce it, even to the blurred lines under the heavy type. The paper was from the press, and the odor of printer's ink was ever afterward associated with that hour.

The newsmen were still crying the extra in the street below. "EXTRA! SPECIAL EXTRA!" The shrill cries were mingled with the sound of a distant hand-saw.

There were two other things she had taken—she had this one. From the moment she had first glanced at the paper,

she felt with a fearful certainty that it had been this one.

And now all the unknowns and unknowns and unknowns that she had ever felt for him were burning their way into her brain.

A Birthday Token.

Only yesterday, her birthday, he had brought her a great box of roses. Awwardly and clumsily, as was his way.

He had given them to her, and she had taken them with a grateful thanks and an implicit faith in his affection.

And then she thought of the letter she had written him the day before.

"Oh, Mabel, I have come to think that you could forgive a man about anything but stupidity. That is the one biggest unpardonable thing. There is no wretchedness so great as that of a woman who tries to be a man that she knows is a fool."

That she had not sent the letter gave her little comfort for she had destroyed

it through an access of loyalty to him.

From the same instinct which prompts us to conceal our wounds.

The telephone in the hall rang out startling. There was a little voice, and then it rang again—half, impatient ring that did not mean she was wanted, but clashed harsh, her eyes starting toward the hall. They wanted to tell her of his death. She would not let them know it. She would not let them

know it. She would not let them

know it. She would not let them

know it. She would not let them

DECISIONS ON BIG AUTO TRUCK RUN WEDNESDAY

By J. C. KERRISON.

The data from which the road of carrying the loads over the route of the BOSTON AMERICAN motor content on Friday and Saturday last is expected to be in the hands of expert accountants, who hope to render their decision not later than Wednesday.

This data is interesting in the extreme, showing as it does the amount of trucking of all goods that each firm has done in the last 1200 miles of the district. It is interesting to know that the amount of trucking done by the district is about 400,000 tons, and that the amount of trucking done by the district is about 400,000 tons.

Computing the Cost.

It would be interesting to know that the cost of trucking is about 10 cents per ton per mile. This is a very low rate, and it is expected that the cost of trucking will be about 10 cents per ton per mile.

Firemen Were Interested.

The fire department along the route was greatly interested in the work of the trucks. They were interested in the work of the trucks, and they were interested in the work of the trucks.

PREDICTS SPANISH
REPUBLIC IS NEXT

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Julio Romero, a well-known writer for the daily newspaper, the "Matin," and one of the best authorities on foreign affairs in France, has been heard recently predicting the chances of a republic being set up there. Lately, one of the principal Republicans, said to him: "A republic in Spain must be set up in four years, as certain as that the sun will rise tomorrow."

COIN MADE IN 1652
IS FOUND IN FIELD

SOUTH AMHERST, Oct. 21.—Casius D. Phelps, a South Amherst merchant, while plowing a field, found one of the earliest American coins, a Massachusetts piece of one of the first minting which was issued in the Massachusetts Bay colony and in the Plymouth Plantation. The coin was found in a field, and it was found in a field.

SOCIETY WOMEN WHO HAVE JOINED HUNTERS' COLONY

Society, for the most part, finds the charm of country life still too great to be exchanged for a more dull routine in the city, and though signs of life are growing more and more apparent, the most exclusive districts, the majority of our smart set are either still lingering at their summer homes or are preparing for departure.

The Herbert W. Masons have just brought their season at "Blackie," the J. Randolph College cottage at Manchester, to a close, and have returned to Boston. The wedding of their son, Harold P. Mason, and Julia K. Russell, will take place Wednesday.

Mrs. Henry C. Wilson is to close her Beverly Farms estate, "The Larches," today, and will open her Beacon street home for the winter.

Mrs. Anna P. Jackson and the Messrs. Grant and Arthur Jackson, are to remain at their North Shore estate, at Prater's Crossing until November 12, when they plan to sail for Europe for an extended stay.

Mrs. and Mr. George Lee and their family are to remain at their Beverly Farms estate, "Villa at Mery," until about the 1st day of December, when they will sail for Europe for an extended stay. Miss Margery Lee is to enter a school in Paris.

Mrs. James McMillan is to close "Eaglesnest," her summer estate, near Tufts, today, and will open her Beacon street home for the winter.

The Albert L. Smiths are to close their North Shore estate, "Quincy Hall," at Manchester, on Thursday, and will open their Beacon street home for the winter.

Mrs. and Mr. John M. Graham, who have occupied the Beverly estate, on their street, Beverly, all summer, will return to their home on Commercial street, Wednesday. Mrs. Graham has been entertaining her party, Mrs. Lockhart and her son from New York.

Mrs. and Mrs. Derivall Lombard are planning to remain at their cottage at Hospital Point, Beverly, until the first of the month.

The Misses Bartlett, who have been traveling about all summer, are now occupying their summer cottage at Manchester, as usual, are due in Boston the 25th.

Much sympathy is being expressed for Mrs. William J. Field, who died last week, wife of the director of the Boston Opera house, who met with a violent accident the other day while out walking. Mrs. Field, who is an ardent politician, died of a heart attack while on her way to the opera house.

Mrs. J. Lewis Smith, who spent the summer at Mattapoisett, has been the guest of her friends in the city. Mrs. J. Lewis Smith, who spent the summer at Mattapoisett, has been the guest of her friends in the city.

What the Boston Elevated Has Done for Rapid Transit

Extensions and Additions, Subway, Elevated and Surface, Which It has Provided MAP NO. 8 AUTHORIZED EXTENSIONS.

From map of Boston Suburbs, Copyright, Geo. H. Walker & Co., Walker, Little & Pub. Co.

The Boston Elevated Railway Company is showing additions and extensions which it has made to its system.

On September 23 was shown the surface lines and the Tremont Street Subway as in January, 1898. This was when the Boston Elevated took charge. On October 3 there was shown in addition the original Elevated system. On October 13 the East Boston Tunnel. On October 19 the Washington Street Tunnel. On October 19 the Forest Hills Elevated Extension. On October 17 the East Cambridge Elevated Extension. On October 19 the Cambridge Subway and Revere Hill Tunnel.

To the above is now added the

Riverbank Subway Shown thus

Simultaneously TWO GREAT IMPROVEMENTS will be accomplished by the Riverbank Subway.

First: The relief of the CONGESTION ON BOYLSTON STREET.

Second: The provision of ADDITIONAL TERMINAL FACILITIES at Park Street.

At present FOUR HUNDRED AND TWENTY CARS per hour are operated on Boylston Street in rush hours.

Riverbank subway will probably have a capacity of FIVE HUNDRED CARS per hour.

From Park Street, it will save TEN MINUTES in running time to nearly all the people of Brighton, Allston and Brookline, and to part of the people of Newton, Waltham and Watertown.

It will run from Park Street under the Common to Charles river. Thence paralleling the river to Charlesgate.

It will be ONE AND THREE QUARTERS MILES in length and its cost is estimated at THREE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS for construction without equipment.

Massachusetts Suffers from Too Much Draperism and Lodgeism.
The Democratic Platform is SPLENDIDLY PROGRESSIVE

A VOTE FOR DRAPER IS A VOTE FOR LODGE

When a party proves false to its own platform, it should be driven out of power. The Republican party must be held responsible for the high cost of living and for its betrayal of the people by its failure to carry out the solemn promise of its national platform to revise the tariff downward.

They should not be returned to Congress. They are unfit for public office. Both of these men should be decisively beaten on election day.

OBJECTS TO TIPPING
 Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:
 I regretted very much to see in the AMERICAN so account of the formation of all this, so far as tipping as a principle is concerned? Very truly yours,

HERESIES are not harmful, if they are sincerely expressed and discriminatingly received. Hence the following article:

One of the greatest hindrances to the success of common school education is the amount of time spent in school. I would call the present system—considered with reference to the number of years that a boy is tied down to his books—an ingenious device for the benumbing of youthful intel-

Considerable has been recently written about the importance of truth regarding the failure of our educational system. The importance is recognized and the need is recognized with expenditures of millions of dollars. But schools everywhere, not only in the United States but in the rest of the world to which we look, do not work. Truth is not the answer. The answer is to be found in the use of the general life of the people and their own life ought to be the basis of the education.

Whether the belief of this article attended school or not, before the age of twelve or two terms, before the age of twelve years old, and was at work in the time between then and when he was twelve years old, the child has been schooled upon the absolute truth of the school opportunity industry. The child and there is great difference in its effect on the pupil between truth offered to him and truth offered to him by the trusts administered to the reluctant mind be phrased.

The amount of time spent in the study of the general life of the people is a small percentage. For instance, is it sudden to the sense that it subsists from life man's life? The amount of time spent in the study of the general life of the people is a small percentage. For instance, is it sudden to the sense that it subsists from life man's life?

All that is needed for the general purposes of living and acting is a broad survey of the world, filled in with an intelligently limited number of details pertaining to our own country, and more and more limited as one reads from the United States in the direction of Paris, St. Petersburg and Hongkong.

To fill months and years with a mass of particulars that will be mostly forgotten as soon as learned, and neither serviceable nor useful, the little time they are remembered, not only does not educate, but impairs one's capacity for education.

Under such conditions truancy is almost a symptom of genius.
